Round Rock, TX - April 27, 2022 - Citizens National Bank, a Central Texas community financial institution breaks ground on a new location in Round Rock, Texas.

“We are pleased to announce our new building. Family owned for 122 years, CNB understands the value and importance of community and we expect to serve our clients and the Round Rock community for another century,” said Steven Wise, President and CEO.

This morning’s ground breaking ceremony kicks off the project at 110 S Mays Street, Round Rock, TX. CNB is excited to be moving to the heart of the city of Round Rock. Several of our branches are centered in downtown locations and we are happy to have the opportunity to do the same with our Round Rock branch. This project is inspired by the historic architecture of downtown Round Rock with a beautiful blend of historic appearance and modern amenities.

Only 1 mile South of the bank’s existing Round Rock branch at 201 W Palm Valley, this new location is in the heart of downtown at the corner of Mays and Bagdad. With an expected 1st quarter of 2023 opening, clients can continue to use the current branch until that time.

Local firm Spencer - Pierce Architecture + Interiors previously worked on the CNB Cameron, Pflugerville, Giddings, Taylor and current Round Rock branches and we are thrilled to once again partner for this project. “I am extremely proud and grateful for the long-term relationship our firm has had with CNB,” said Principal Architect Bo Spencer.

Headquartered in Cameron, Texas EBCO General Contractor, LTD will also be teaming up with us again. They have worked on other CNB locations and have an impressive portfolio.
